B. Citizen on Patrol (COP)

COP Director Malik Freeman presented the following goals of the COP: to target patrol, ensure child safety, and maintain community awareness, neighborhood safety and maintain property values. Any violation reported is immediately reviewed by Mr. Freeman and President Dyson, if referred to him. Residents are notified by mail of any reported violation, and given a timeframe in which to correct the violation. Failure to correct the violation is then reported to Code Enforcement of Baltimore County.

Mr. Freeman stressed the need for regular patrolling of the community particularly after school, late night and early morning. For the safety of the neighborhood: lock car doors, do not leave visible items in the car; and at night turn on outdoor lights. To protect property do not leave shed or garage doors open and unsecured. He also suggested doing a drive around the community. Never confront a suspicious person but if something looks suspicious call 911. He reminded residents to be especially vigilant during holidays, and school breaks.

New COP members are always needed and welcomed. Training is provided by Baltimore County Police Department. The training is located at the Randallstown substation.

E. Miscellaneous

This is an aging community. Parents, grandparents need to support our neighborhood school. Parents need to be involved in the educational process. They should offer feedback to school administrators.

A report was made to the principal regarding the parking near the school entrance. Often there is double parking which can be a safety hazard for children walking to and from school.

President Dyson spoke with a representative from LifeBridge Health. A spokesperson is willing to come to a meeting on Changing Hearts. President Dyson asked those present if they were interested in such a meeting. The consensus of those present was very favorable. Present Dyson will arrange a meeting and the date will be posted at both entrances of the community.
